Rapper, songwriter, and producer Phumlane 'Fakaloice' Zondo (27) was born and raised in Verulam, KwaZulu-Natal. He uses music to inspire people in their tough circumstances and to give them hope. He grew up in a churchgoing environment, that was handy for him to cultivate his talent. Fakaloice started writing songs for the church from a young age, and that is when he fell in love with music that touches people's souls.

He began rapping in 2014 as one of his ways to make money for himself, since then he has released two EPs which form part of the highlights he has in his career. Fakaloice works hard to stand out from the masses, he releases a unique sound accompanied by powerful messages of hope. His musical style is a mixture of English and IsiZulu, he refers to his style as Zunglish.

The year 2020 saw Fakaloice being part of the partnership between the multi award-winning record label Ambitiouz Entertainment and Rocka Empire. He was introduced to Ambitiouz Entertainment's fans in July 2020 with a trendy and trepy song titled 'Your Son' in which he encourages people to have consistent belief in their hustles. On the 11th of September, Fakaloice coupled Your Son with attention grabbing and intriguing music video which is now on over 60k views.

The Zunglish rapper has also released another self-produced single titled 'Angzazi', a prayer to God where he asks him, to reveal to him his enemies as they could be closer than he may think and they can be the very same people who cry and laugh with him. Angzazi music video was released on the 9th of October, bringing us closer to reality with visuals that put the lyrics to life showing that people are not always who they are and your enemies could be closer than you think. The emotive video was among YouTube trending videos for three days straight after its release, after trending #5 on Twitter.

Fakaloice continued to work on his craft and released a single titled 'Sekunjalo' featuring his mate, Macarisma. In April 2022, the versatile artist released his fourth single titled 'Konakele' featuring Intaba Yase Dubai. That was quickly followed by 'Ooh Aah' in which he teamed up with the late Riky Rick and Cassper Nyovest.

The artist is determined to put more sweat and determination in his skills and heal people through his sound.
